The City of Durham

SKETCH

Durham was incorporated by Act of General Assembly April 10th, 1869. Her corporate lines originally embraced one square mile, the center at a point where Corcoran Street now intersects the main track of the Southern Railroad. Her first officials were J. W. Cheek, Magistrate of Police; R. F. Morris, A. M. Rigsbee, W. K. Styron, W. Y. Clark, Wm. Mangum, John A. McMannen, Sr., Commissioners; J. T. Farthing, Clerk and Treasurer; Andrew Turner, Constable and Street Commissioner; official term, one year.

The population numbered about 200, and the tax assessment—real and personal—aggregated about $150,000. There was but one railroad, the old North Carolina, now a part of the Southern Railway System.

In 1903 the corporate limits were extended and now embrace a total area of nearly four square miles, and the official term advanced to two years. The Mayor and Aldermen are elected by popular vote; all other officials are chosen by the Board of Aldermen. Elections are held biennially, in odd-numbered years, on the last Tuesday in April. There are four wards, numbered one, two, three and four. Each ward is entitled to two representatives on the Board.

The Federal Census for 1910 fixes the city's population at more than 18,000. Add to this the population of East and West Durham, and other thickly populated environments, and the community easily contains twenty-five thousand people. The real and personal tax assessment for 1911 aggregates $17,257,338.00.

The transportation facilities consists of the Southern R. R., Norfolk & Western R. R., Seaboard Air Line, Durham & Southern R. R., Durham & South Carolina, the Durham & Charlotte, and the Durham Traction Company.

The manufacturing interests are varied and enormous. Many of the products are marketed in every country in the world. The tobacco and textile industries are by odds the most important, the textile industries following in volume of business and value of output. Many other diversified industries are in constant operation, and their products aggregate millions in value every year. See classification of business interests in succeeding pages.

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

The water supply for drinking, domestic and general use is furnished by the Durham Water Co., a private corporation. The supply is pure and wholesome and amply sufficient to supply a city of from 75,000 to 100,000 inhabitants. It is carefully analyzed each week under the auspices of the State Board of Health, and by careful filtration kept free from all foreign matter and contaminating germs. The pumping station is located on Eno river, eight miles from the city, the water being pumped from there to the reservoir on Huckleberry Hill, and flows from there to the city by gravity.

The city is lighted by both gas and electricity, by private corporations, the Durham Traction Co. furnish power for the street lightning, and lights for the business and dwelling houses as well as motive power for factories, having abundance of power available for this purpose. The streets are lighted by one hundred and twenty-seven arc lights, which are burned all night the year round. The Carolina Power and Light Co. furnish the gas for lighting and cooking, having their mains laid in all parts of the city. The street railway is operated by the Durham Traction Company, who are giving a most satisfactory service, connecting the outlying sections of the city with the business or shopping districts.

The Southern Power Company have completed their lines to Durham and in a short while will be giving light and power service to our people. This company is one of the largest power concerns in the South.

From a financial standpoint Durham is one of the soundest cities in the South today, and its banks are considered as substantial as any in the country. They are five in number, in the city proper, and one in East Durham, all of which offer ample facilities and encouragement to our people, and have been responsible for much of the upbuilding of the city commercially.

MANUFACTURING SITES.

There are many very desirable building sites in Durham for manufactories, conveniently located on the railroad, where private sidings may be had, and in close connection with the waterworks and drainage systems. With the added advantage of the belt line owned by the Norfolk & Western Railway, Durham offers factory sites unequalled. Cheap and dependable power, unexcelled railway shipping facitities, and an abundant supply of labor all combine to make Durham an ideal city for manufactories.

ASSOCIATIONS.

The Merchants Association is an association formed by the business men of the city with the object of fostering the trade, manufacturing, and other business interests of Durham; to reform abuses in trade or business, to secure freedom from unlawful or unjust exactions, to promote public improvements, as well as to educate the people in the wise expenditure of public moneys.

The various national societies and fraternal organizations, including the Masons, the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias, the Elks, the Royal Arcanum, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, the National Union, and the Heptasophs, are all represented in Durham, many of them with their own club or lodge rooms.

The Commonwealth Club, which has handsomely equipped club rooms in the Durham Loan and Trust Building, has a large membership among the financial and professional men of the city.

The Young Men's Christian Association has a well equipped building, and a large membership throughout the entire city.

Durham now has one of the finest hospitals in the State, if not in the entire Union. It was built and equipped at a cost of over half a million dollars by Mr. George W. Watts and donated and endowed by him to the city at large. A graded scale of fees is charged, but no patient is refused admission for lack of funds. As well as this, the Watts Hospital, we have the Lincoln, a hospital for colored people, built and equipped by Mr. J. B. Duke.

GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT.

An idea of the city's growth and development can be gleaned from the increase in the assessed valuation during the past nine years. The assessed value of real and personal property for

1900	was	$ 7,365,657.00
1905	"	12,543,548.00
1909	"	15,711,778.00
1911	"	17,257,338.00

The tax rate has always been low for both the county and the city, while the assessed valuation has been most conservative in every instance. The county and state tax rate for 1911 was 83 cents on the $100; while that of the city is $1.17 on the $100.

The bonded indebtedness of the city is today as follows:

Railways	$137,000.00
Schools	124,000.00
Sewerage	100,000.00
Streets and Sidewalks	100,000.00
Market	50,000.00
Funding Bonds	140,000.00
Total	$651,000.00

With a sinking fund of $194,762.02 this amount is reduced to $316,237.98.

EDUCATIONAL FEATURES.

The first school of Durham was opened here prior to the Civil War, in a building erected by Eno Lodge, A. F. & A. M., the lower floor of the building being donated by them for school purposes. This school was presided over by Col. Bennett Hopkins, and was known as the Durham Male Academy. In 1882, A. M. Rigsbee erected a building on Mangum Street, and the Durham Female School started, with Mrs. M. E. Mahoney at its head.

From this small beginning our present fine school system has developed, until today we have better educational facilities than any other city in the State. Our graded schools, seven in number, five for white and two for colored children, are handsome modern buildings, built at a cost of upwards of $145,000. Besides these city schools, we have the Southern Conservatory of Music, Trinity College, Trinity Park School, and a number of fine private musical and commercial schools, offering special courses in their own individual lines.
